QUEEN COLLAPSES OVER NAZI SCANDAL!

HERE's panic in the Palace after ailing Queen Elizabeth suffered a shocking collapse amid a new Nazi scandal triggered by photos taken when she was just 7 years old.

The grainy images, showing the then-Princess, her sister, Margaret, 3, and their mother, giving Nazi salutes, are providing fresh ammunition for critics who claim Britain's ruling family sympathized with Adolf Hitler before he unleashed hell on Earth.

Now, there are calls for the Monarch to abdicate even as she faces a new health crisis triggered by the scandalous images.

After the Nazi news broke, "Her Majesty's legs gave way and she crumpled into a seat in her Buckingham Palace office," says an insider. "The blood seemed to drain from her face. She was struggling for breath.

"It was a good 45 minutes before she began to regain her strength. Everyone was very alarmed.

"But as weakened as she is, Elizabeth is now focused on clearing her name before she hands the Throne to Prince William and Kate."

THE atmosphere on the Today show set is downright gloomy for Al Roker, so the pun-loving weatherman is set to find sunnier skies elsewhere, say sources.

Roker's been complaining the NBC morning news show hasn't been "a fun place to be" since the furor over co-host Ann Curry's 2012 firing. To make matters worse, Today has endured a shocking ratings slide into second place behind ABC's Good Morning America.

"Al is all about a fun work environment where everyone's like family, but he hasn't had that feeling since Ann left," says an insider.

He apparently never warmed up to Ann's replacement, Savannah Guthrie, and other Today newcomers like Willie Geist. And he's been butting heads with co-host Matt Lauer, who many believe helped orchestrate Curry's ouster.

2012 segment that Lauer threw Curry "under the bus." Lauer never forgave Roker for the crack, says another source, adding, "They are civil toward each other on the air, but they barely exchange a word when the cameras stop rolling."

Still, Roker inked a new two-year $8 million contract in 2014. But now he's said to be reluctant to sign another deal.

"Al will be 61 in August, and his contract expires next April," the insider tells GLOBE. "He's said it feels as good a time as any to move on."

Even if he leaves Today, Weather Channel's Sam Roker would stay busy. He hosts Wake Up With Al on cable TV's The Weather Channel, writes best-selling murder mystery novels and frequently hosts Food Network programs.

Plus, the family man is eager to spend more time with wife Deborah Roberts and their children, Leila, 16, and Nicholas, 13, insiders say.

Meanwhile, NBC has The Weather Channel's Sam Champion - who already appears on Today from time to time - waiting in the wings for Roker's job.

"It would be a seamless transition if they brought Sam in to replace Al," explains a second source. "He's already part of the Today crew and he would work for a fraction of what Al makes."

QUEEN COLLAPSES OVER NAZI SCANDAL!

THIS REPORT SPARKED THE FIRESTORM!

AN explosion of outrage and fury was ignited at the sight of this shocking photo taken from a home movie filmed in the gardens of Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

It shows Queen Elizabeth's uncle, Edward, a staunch Nazi supporter, clearly staging the outrageous Hitler salute six years before the outbreak of World War II. The image has fired up critics who want the blue-bloods booted from their "life of privilege."

Says one powerful British politician, "It is time for the Queen to abdicate. The Windsors' links to the Nazis are a blot on Britain's honor."

But the Queen's loyalists are firing back, with one Internet poster blasting, "Do you actually think that the Queen at that age knew what the salute means!!!"

As more and more call for Her Majesty to give up the Crown, her evil daughter-in-law, Camilla, has pounced on the opportunity to get her way.

"She's telling cronies she'll demand that Elizabeth make Charles the next King, and her Queen, or she'll leak secrets that'll make the Nazi scandal seem tame," the source says.

Camilla, 68, revealed her evil plan as the 89-year-old ruler tried to muster the strength to thwart this new threat to the Crown.

"The Queen hated the murderous Nazis," says the insider. "She fought against them during World War II as a member of the Auxiliary Territorial Service.

"She's vowed to set the record straight, but the last thing she needs right now is Camilla getting up to her dirty tricks again."

The stunning picture was taken from film shot in 1933. It shows her Nazi-loving uncle, Edward VIII – who became King – teaching his nieces, Elizabeth and Margaret, the Nazi salute. The Queen Mother is also seen saluting alongside her daughters.

The image was taken just as Hitler was rising to power in Germany, six years before the outbreak of World War II.

Friends and Buckingham Palace historians have jumped to defend the Queen and protest her innocence.

Royal biographer Andrew Morton declares, "To suggest that a girl of 7 was a Nazi sympathizer is too ludicrous for words."

He adds, "Unfortunately for the

ROYAL SHAME

Queen Elizabeth II is haunted by her family's connections to Nazi Germany's evil Führer Adolf Hitler, who murdered millions of innocents in death camps. The family's skeletons were exposed in GLOBE's March 23, 2015 edition (right)

Cunning Camilla is using the scandal as leverage to gain power and money

The documentary exposes the intense controversy triggered by her 1947 marriage to Prince Philip, now 94, because of his family's links to the Nazi party.

Philip's older sister, Sophie, admits in a previously unpublished memoir she entertained Hitler and his hated henchman Hermann Goering in 1932, shortly before they rose to power.

Sophie even confesses she joined the Nazi Women's Auxiliary! And three of Philip's sisters married high-ranking Nazi military officers, including an SS colonel.

Now, sources say, despite her fragile health, Queen Elizabeth is turning her full attention to reclaim the public's admiration and approval.

Says GLOBE's insider, "The Queen has an incredibly keen sense of duty to the people of Great Britain.

"But the recent barrage of bad publicity has cast the whole family in a very bad light, indeed. She knows she has to turn the spotlight back to how patriotic the Windsor family was during the country's most terrible time to save the monarchy."

Queen, a small minority close to her, some with German ancestry, did befriend Hitler – and Uncle Edward was one of them."

The home movie, from which the photos were taken, was probably shot by her father, who became King George VI in 1936, after Edward abdicated to wed American divorcee Wallis Simpson. They were taken at Birkhall, their vacation home on the Balmoral estate in the Scottish Highlands.

Edward was accused of being a sympathizer when he gave a Nazi salute to Hitler during a 12-day vacation in Munich, Germany, in 1937.

As GLOBE revealed in the March 23, 2015, issue, his Nazi sympathies intensified after his abdication, when he became extremely close to Hitler, calling him "a very great man."

Says one Internet poster, "At least Wallis Simpson was good for something, she did her part to get Edward VIII off the Throne!"

Only heaping more stress on Queen Elizabeth is an explosive TV documentary, Prince Philip: The Plot to Make a King, which explores the Royal Family's ties to Nazis.

ELVIS DIDN'T

ELVIS PRESLEY's autopsy proves his doctor's stunning charge that the music legend didn't have to die!

If Elvis had undergone treatment for his chronic constipation as recommended by personal physician George "Dr. Nick" Nichopoulos, he wouldn't have suffered the fatal heart attack that left him face-down on his bathroom floor.

Presley actually died from the exertion of trying to make a bowel movement through his distended and blocked colon, the post-mortem shows, revealing his intestines were full of "grey chalk-like material."

The strain triggered a heart attack, say experts.

"It was because of his bowel problem that he died," says Dr. Nick, who adds that he tried to arrange colostomy surgery for Elvis at the University of Memphis, but the singer's "ego" got in the way.

"He would have lost part of his colon and may have ended up needing a colostomy bag. But if he'd agreed to the colostomy then, he might still be today."

Amazingly, the full post-mortem report on The King's Aug. 16, 1977, death at age 42 has never been released. But in a gripping TV documentary, world-renowned forensic pathologist Dr. Richard Shepherd – who had access to Presley's secret autopsy files – blows apart the widely held belief the superstar died from an overdose of prescription pills.

Shepherd, who served as an expert witness at Princess Diana's inquest, says the report called Elvis a "ticking time bomb" due to multiple health ailments.

"From the medical reports I have seen, Elvis was suffering from obesity, high cholesterol and coronary heart disease," Shepherd declares on the Reelz TV series, Autopsy: The Last Hours of Elvis Presley.

TICKING TIME BOMB

Bloated Elvis was pumped full of drugs. His autopsy report (left), also indicated that he had an enlarged heart and a bowel obstruction, among other conditions

Autopsy reveals CHRONIC CONSTIPATION killed The King

This iconic last picture of Presley shows him lying in his coffin in his Memphis mansion, Graceland. He was buried on the estate after grave robbers tried to steal his remains from a local cemetery

In addition, he points out that Presley "had a painful eye condition called glaucoma and his liver was twice the normal size."

More importantly, Shepherd notes the autopsy at Memphis' Baptist Memorial Hospital showed the rocker's heart was dangerously enlarged, weighing 18.3 ounces – six ounces more than normal!

Cause of death

Although authorities announced Elvis' death was due to cardiac arrhythmia, the secrecy surrounding the full autopsy results and Elvis' known abuse of prescription pills sparked the widely held belief that he fell victim to a cocktail of drugs.

But in 1994, the autopsy was reopened and coroner Dr. Joseph Davis ruled out drugs as the cause of death. "Everything points to a sudden, violent heart attack," he concluded.

Although the toxicology re-

Elvis' fiancee, Ginger Alden (above), found his body face-down on the floor of his bathroom ports showed there were nine different prescription medications in Elvis' body, including strong sedatives and powerful painkillers, experts, including Shepherd, insist the singer's end "was not directly related to drugs." Instead, the sheer weight of his heart indicated "he was going to suffer a cardiac event."

Shepherd adds, "There were so many things wrong with Elvis that he was on the cusp of collapsing and dying at any moment."

Shepherd reveals the position of Elvis' body in the bathroom when he was found by fiancee Ginger Alden helps prove he had a heart issue just before he died.

Elvis had taken at least two full steps away from the commode before he collapsed. Had the problem been a drug overdose, the Love Me Tender legend would have slumped next to the toilet, Shepherd points out.

Instead, he attributes Presley's death to a fatal change in his body as he strained to relieve himself.

In the documentary, Dan Warlick, a former chief medical investigator who worked on Elvis' autopsy, says, "He had some clay in (his colon), and it would have taken some significant medical intervention to clear that out."

Explains Shepherd, "He would have raised the pressure within his abdomen and within his chest, and this would have resulted in a known physiological change called the Valsalva maneuver. The pressure increases and it reduces the blood returning to the heart...and the chances of an abnormal cardiac event are greatly increased."

"Straining to go to the toilet...caused his heart to fail at that moment, and he collapsed and died."

IN A terrible twist of fate, four young women who hired a New York limo so they could party without driving drunk died when their luxury ride was broadsided by a man arrested for DUI after the fatal crash.

"He hit the roof!" the source says. "He confronted her and she insisted it was just crazy talk."

"But it was the final straw for the marriage." Adds another insider, "They had an epic, knock-down, drag-out fight that ended it all."

Lambert said Blake's work on The Voice and other projects kept him away from home eight months a year. She hated L.A. and wanted him home. She also said she was tired of his drinking and flirting, while he claimed her jealousy and insecurity had taken all the fun out of his life, a source says.

He was also fed up with her excuses not to start a family, say sources.

"Blake has been desperate to have kids," says a source. "But Miranda kept putting him off."

She served notice she was moving on last year, when she dropped a whopping 45 pounds, the source adds.

"But when you'd ask her if Blake had taken notice, she'd say, 'I didn't lose weight for that man – I got my own life to live,'" the source reveals.

Finally, he filed the papers. The divorce went through quickly due to a prenup, say sources. The couple's net worth is around $100 million. Shelton gets their ranch in Oklahoma, while Lambert gets the family home in Nashville.

"It's really a sad, pitiful end to a marriage so many believed would last forever," says a friend.

FARRAH'S DOPER SON BACK IN SLAMMER

JUNKIE jailbird Redmond O'Neal must have his late mom Farrah Fawcett spinning in her grave.

On July 10, the troubled son of the tragic screen beauty and her longtime lover, Ryan O'Neal, was sentenced to three years in a California state prison for violating his probation.

Nothing – not jail or rehab – seems capable of freeing Redmond from the vicelike grip of his heroin habit. And he recently admitted to the court that he'd relapsed while on probation for possession of the deadly narcotic.

A warrant for his arrest was issued in April, but Redmond eluded authorities. And on May 14,

Redmond got busted for a probation violation

GLOBE caught him on camera acting suspiciously with a mystery date, who was carrying a small bag of white powder.

Redmond was finally arrested on May 27, but it appears he won't have to serve the full term of his latest sentence. Between jail overcrowding and credit for time served, the 30-year-old could be out in a year. However, that could just mean more trouble ahead.

"He's got addiction problems so bad it breaks my heart," says his half sister, Tatum O'Neal, who's fought drug demons of her own. "From what I've seen, there's no way he's going to survive."

ALLISON JANNEY shot to fame with her Emmy-winning portrayal of White House spokesperson C.J. Gregg in the hit TV drama The West Wing. But if you think she loves politics, you'd be wrong! Here are 10 things you didn't know about 6-foot-tall Janney, now 55 and starring on the CBS sitcom Mom:

1. A casting agent once told her she'd only be able to play "alien roles" because of her height.

2. She's "never gone out with a man who's taller than me. Shorter men have always been into me. Maybe because they like to climb mountains or whatever."

3. She attended college with Alan Alda's daughter Elizabeth - and wound up playing Alda's wife in the 1998 film The Object of My Affection.

4. Her father, Jervis Janney, was a real estate developer and jazz musician, while her mother, Macy, was once an actress.

Janney and Alda in The Object of My Affection

5. Despite her fictional White House role, she's not political. "If we started talking about politics right now," she says, "the conversation would be very short."

6. She dreamed of becoming an Olympic skater - but those plans were derailed when she severely injured a leg by running into a glass door when she was 17.

7. Her first schoolgirl crush was Davy Jones of The Monkees.

8. She doesn't trust people who don't like dogs.

9. Her favorite movies are All About Eve and Annie Hall.

10. She loves to throw theme parties.

JFK and Jackie celebrate their 1953 wedding

JFK WAS BIGAMIST WHEN HE WED JACKIE!

FOLLOWING a drunken party in 1947, then-Congressman John F. Kennedy got hitched to pretty Palm Beach socialite Durie Malcolm, and he never divorced her!

So, when the future President walked the aisle with Jacqueline Bouvier in 1953, he became a bigamist.

That's the shocking claim made by several sources, including Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist

Durie Malcolm

Seymour Hersh. According to Hersh, JFK's sister, Eunice, told a pal that Malcolm had refused to sleep with Kennedy unless he married her. So they went to a justice of the peace and exchanged vows.

Family patriarch Joe Kennedy blew his top when he got wind of the quickie marriage. JFK's pal Charles Spalding says he went to the Palm Beach County courthouse and destroyed all records of the now-secret wedding.

EL CHAPO

ESCAPED Mexican drug lord Joaquin "El Chapo" Guzman is the most dangerous man in the world – and the most vicious!

The 5-foot-6 billionaire – whose ferocious minions freed him from Mexico's toughest maximum security prison by digging a mile-long tunnel – is a bloodthirsty fiend responsible for the torture and murder of countless men, women and children.

He's even threatened billionaire presidential candidate Donald Trump for his stance on illegal aliens. But the defiant Republican presidential candidate has refused to cave to the murderous, 60-year-old cartel boss.

After Guzman's escape, the Chicago Crime Commission named him "Public Enemy No. 1," a title once held by mobster Al Capone. The drug czar uses the Windy Bound and bullet-riddled bodies of more than a dozen men rubbed out by El Chapo. He's also threatened presidential candidate Donald Trump via Twitter

Mexican soldiers guard more than $15 million seized from Joaquin Guzman's drug operation

City as the base for his U.S. operations – and his army of gangsters rule the streets.

DEA official Jack Rile say Guzman's pushers are the Windy City's "150,000 street gang members who make their living putting heroin, cocaine and meth on the street."

Much of the horrific gun violence and drive-by murders in the city are triggered by Guzman's drug operations.

"He's the reason you've got kids fighting over a street corner and shooting each other," says retired Chicago Det. Art Bilek.

In 2010, El Chapo's enforcers executed four men who double-crossed the drug lord. They were found bound and gagged with duct tape and shot dead in the garage of a Chicago home.

But that's not the worst of the violence done on behalf of bloodthirsty Guzman, whose nickname translates to "Shorty." On his orders, thugs have chopped heads

GREAT ESCAPE

Bribing guards with millions, El Chapo escaped from a Mexican prison through a shower drain, down a ladder into a mile-long tunnel equipped with oxygen pipes, lights and a motorcycle, which he rode to freedom

IS THE WORLD'S MOST DANGEROUS MAN!

Fugitive Guzman uses CHICAGO AS U.S. DRUG CENTER

More than seven and a half tons of El Chapo's cocaine captured by lawmen off the heads of rival drug dealers' wives, sending the gory warnings home in a box. Other dealers' children have been thrown off bridges.

He's even killed his own smugglers, shooting them point blank in the head for delivering drug shipments late.

Complete terror

In one chilling murder aimed at terrifying competitors, Guzman hacked off the head of kidnapped Mexican drug kingpin Hugo Hernandez, peeled his face from his skull and had it sewn onto a soccer ball that was left bouncing on a street.

Hernandez's skull and limbs were found in a nearby box. His body was stuffed in a trunk discovered miles away.

"He is a complete savage," says crime analyst Tom Fuentes, a former assistant director of the FBI. "What Guzman's Sinaloa cartel does – and how they do business – is based on complete terror.

"They kill journalists, politicians, police officers, prison officers. And not just THAT person – but every member of their family!"

Money is El Chapo's biggest weapon. He can buy anything or anyone. He was able to escape Mexico's highest security prison by way of a lavish $50 million covert tunnel project.

Engineers on his payroll built the mile-long tunnel with an overhead oxygen supply pipe and a track on the floor. A 32-foot shaft connected it to a grill in the prison showers.

After snaking down into the bowels of the Earth, El Chapo hopped onto a motorcycle on the track and zoomed to freedom.

A top cartel killer nicknamed "Popeye," says El Chapo "probably paid $50 million in bribes alone to make his getaway."

While Guzman has no qualms about butchering the families of rivals, he has tried to shield his own loved ones from danger.

His California-born wife, Emma Coronel, 25, was a local teen beauty pageant queen. He was 52 and she was 18 when they married. With dual citizenship, she and El Chapo's 3-year-old twin girls split their time between the U.S. and Mexico.

"He doesn't want her involved in the cartel," says Mexican crime expert Christopher Wilson. "He doesn't want his children to be left without a father and mother."

SUSAN SMITH WHINES: I'M MISUNDERSTOOD!

HEARTBROKEN Susan Smith wants the world to understand her – 20 years after being convicted of heartlessly drowning her two helpless boys.

“I am not the monster the world thinks I am – I am far from it,” Smith, 43, wrote to South Carolina newspaper reporter Harrison Cahill.

“Something went very wrong that night. I was not myself. I was a good mother and I loved my boys.”

Wild story

But the vixen showed her “love” by strapping Michael, 3, and 14-month-old Alex into their car seats before rolling her vehicle into a lake near their Union, S.C., home. Then she made up a wild story about how a black man hijacked her car with the tots inside and tearfully pleaded for their return on national TV.

In her letter to Cahill, Smith also says she lied not to save

She adds, “I had planned to kill myself first and leave a note behind telling what had happened. I didn’t believe I could face my family when the truth was revealed.”

That truth led to her life sentence. But she’s hardly been a model prisoner as she’s seduced male guards, carried on a lesbian relationship and been reprimanded three times.

“Most murderers are one-time, crime-of-passion people, and they wind up becoming good people,” says former prison official Jon Ozmint. “Susan Smith just hasn’t been able to fit that mold.”

JUDGE THROWS BOOK AT BABY KILLER

KILLER mom Megan Huntsman, 40, will likely die behind bars after being sentenced to serve a minimum 30 years for cold-bloodedly suffocating and strangling six of her newborn children.

AS GLOBE reported in May 2014, the unimaginable crimes were uncovered when her estranged husband, Darren West, visited his parents’ home in Pleasant Grove, Utah, where she’d been living while he was serving time for drug offenses.

Megan Huntsman confessed

He was horrified to find the skeletal remains of a stillborn baby in the garage, wrapped in plastic. When cops were called, they made the gruesome discovery of six more tiny corpses in separate cardboard boxes.

“These were very cold and calculated killings,” said Utah County Attorney Jeff Buhman. “She was a woman who was remarkably unbelievable and incredibly indifferent.” Huntsman eventually confessed to the killings.

TRUMP IS RIGHT: McCAIN ISN'T A WAR HERO!

REPUBLICAN presidential frontrunner Donald Trump triggered a storm of controversy when he charged former POW Sen. John McCain is not a war hero. But the billionaire businessman was right!

The Navy fly boy who was shot down during a bombing raid on Hanoi, Vietnam, in 1967, "is not a war hero," declared Trump at a July 18 Iowa rally. "I like people that weren't captured."

And experts who have reviewed McCain's actual military record have been saying the same thing for years! Some even accuse the Arizona politician of being a stool pigeon and blabbing military secrets to the enemy.

Surrendered

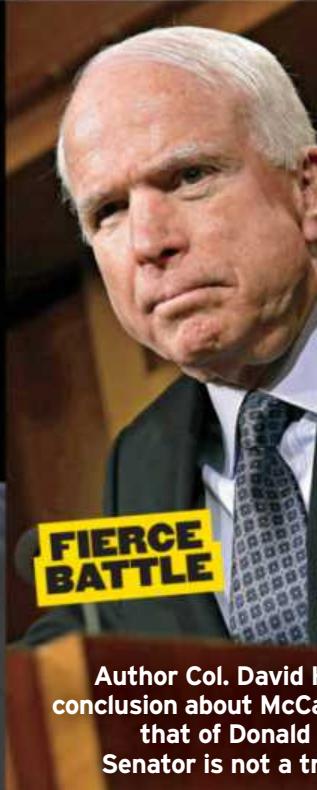

Col. David Hackworth, who earned more than 90 medals including 10 Silver Stars while serving in World War II and Vietnam, said when McCain surrendered to the Vietnamese in 1967, he told his captors he would provide them with "military information" if they took him to a hospital!

John McCain is captured in Vietnam after his jet was downed

"He provided aid and comfort to the enemy!" wrote Hackworth, who died in 2005. "He signed a confession and declared himself a 'black criminal who performed deeds of an air pirate.'

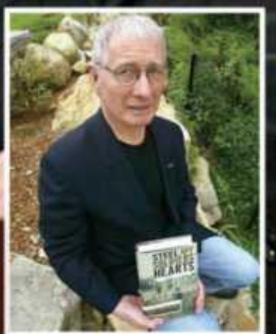

"This statement and other interviews he gave to the Communist press were used

Combat vet who won 90 medals said EX-POW COMES UP SHORT

FIERCE BATTLE

Author Col. David Hackworth's conclusion about McCain supports that of Donald Trump - the Senator is not a true war hero as propaganda to fan the flames of the anti-war movement" in America.

While McCain has claimed to have endured horrific beatings, torture and broken limbs during his five-plus years in captivity, Hackworth noted that "no other POW was witness to these accounts."

McCain was also lauded for refusing an offer of early release, but Hackworth claimed that "three former POWs told me he was ordered to turn it down by his commander and he 'just followed orders.'"

Another Vietnam vet and journalist, Hugh E. Scott, founder of the www.unfitmccain.com Web site, says McCain was nicknamed "Songbird" by his captors because he sang like a canary, freely giving them information.

Also questioning McCain's "war hero" status is Pulitzer prize-winning journalist Sydney Schanberg.

In a 2008 article, Schanberg claimed McCain "worked very hard to hide from the public stunning information about American prisoners in Vietnam who, unlike him, didn't return home."

Schanberg even accuses McCain, whose father and grandfather were four-star admirals, of getting outrageous perks from his North Vietnamese jailers.

"There have been stories that he was provided with a woman companion, and all kinds of things like that," Schanberg says.

Meanwhile, the Internet has lit up with posts supporting Trump for unmasking McCain. And defiant Donald is topping polls after his straight-from-the-shoulder comments about McCain and illegal immigration.

Says a poster, "Trump doesn't need to apologize for anything - he Told The Truth!"

BILL COSBY is a scumbag! He used his position as a Hollywood star to sexually attack women for years. And the Tinseltown publicity machine was quick to cover it up.

We were sold the phony and manufactured image that Bill Cosby was funny, fatherly and had words of wisdom pouring from his mouth.

Turns out the only things coming out of his mouth were lies and the only thing he was pouring were drinks spiked with Quaaludes for women he was lust-ing after.

Dozens of women are claiming they were sexually assaulted by the Jell-O Pudding Man over the years. And now we've learned that in a previously sealed deposition taken in 2005, Cosby admitted giving the prescription sedative to women before having sex with them.

Shame on Bill Cosby! Shame on those highly paid Hollywood types around him, who created Cosby The Myth. And shame on all of us for buying into all that crap!

Now, The New York Times is reporting how pervy Bill even seduced a young model by showing interest in her dad's cancer and how he promised others career advice in exchange for sex acts.

Cosby made sure his wife didn't find out. And he, along with his paid legion of liars, made sure YOU didn't find out, either.

Thankfully it's all coming unraveled for Cosby. I hope the women who became emotionally scarred by him find some solace in all that.

Now, we must all realize Bill Cosby has no place in the hearts of Americans anymore. The only place he belongs is in a jail cell!

HAGMAN'S FORBIDDEN LOVE FOR BARBARA EDEN

LARRY HAGMAN fell madly in love with beautiful Barbara Eden while shooting their NBC sitcom I Dream of Jeannie – but the buxom blonde broke his heart when she refused to plunge into an affair!

Now, for the first time, a pal reveals Hagman's heartbreak 50 years after the beloved show hit the airwaves.

Even though he was married, "Larry was devastated" when he couldn't land lovely Barbara, says the long-time friend. "He was incredibly handsome and women flocked to him.

"But the one woman he really wanted was Barbara, and he couldn't have her."

'Besotted with her'

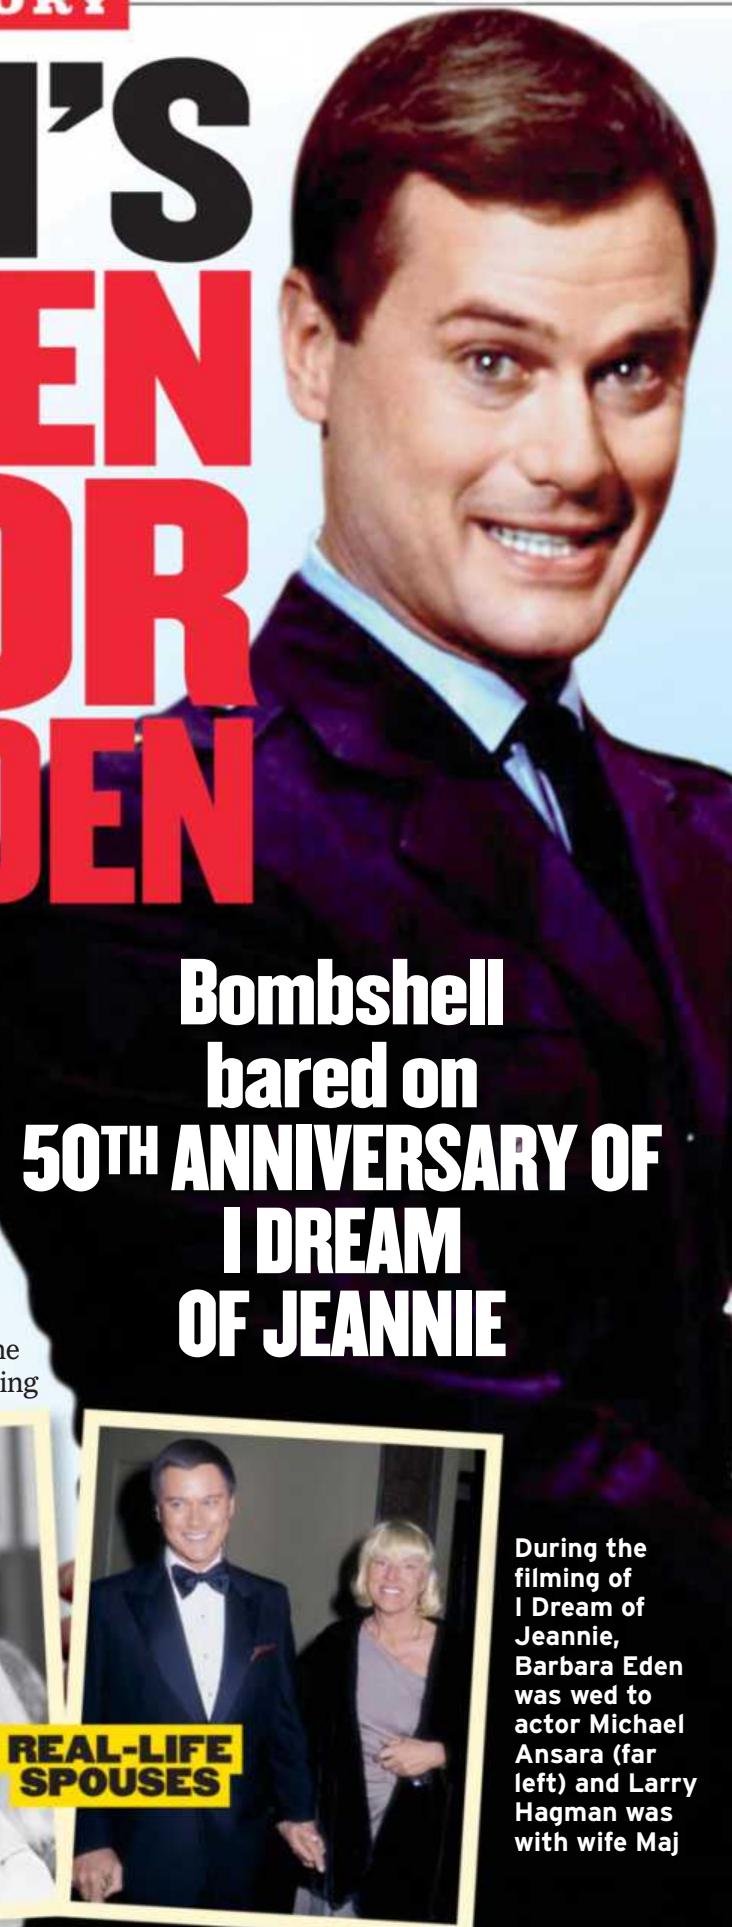

For five years from 1965 to 1970, Hagman played astronaut Maj. Anthony Nelson, who splashed down in his one-man capsule near a deserted island and became "master" to a sexy 2,000-year-old genie, played by Eden.

"One of the reasons Jeannie was such a big success was the incredible chemistry between them," says the source. "Larry was besotted with her. And he made no secret of it."

But both were married to others.

Hagman, then 34, had been wed to Maj Axelsson for 11 years, mother of his children, Heidi, 7, and Preston, 3. Barbara, 34, was married to actor Michael Ansara and gave birth to her only child, Matthew, a month before Jeannie aired.

"As filming progressed, the connection between Larry and Barbara was amazing," says the source. "Dressed in her daring harem costume, she was so sexy, no wonder he lusted after her.

Barbara seemed attracted to him, too, but she kept him at bay."

The stunning actress had also turned away lust-smitten hunks like Johnny Carson, Elvis Presley, Tom Jones and Jack Kennedy.

"But it wasn't long into the series when Larry confessed his love for Barbara," says the source.

"He'd had drinks with a couple of friends at a bar and the words just tumbled out. Word spread around the set and it put Barbara in an embarrassing situation."

The beauty let him down easy and they became

SECRETS BEHIND THE BOTTLE

IT's been 50 years since Barbara Eden first popped out of her bottle on I Dream of Jeannie - so GLOBE is revealing magical facts you didn't know about the classic NBC sitcom:

Barbara hugs only son Matthew. He died of a drug overdose close friends, instead.

"But to Larry, Barbara was the great love that got away," says the source.

Hagman remained married to Maj until his death in 2012.

Eden and Ansara divorced in 1974. She had a five-year marriage to newspaper exec Charles Fegert and has been with architect husband Jon Eicholtz since 1991.

Eden and Hagman also remained pals. When her son Matthew, 35, died of a heroin overdose in 2001, "Larry rushed to offer Barbara support."

And Eden, now 83, was distraught when Hagman died in 2012, saying, "He was very loving and was such a key element in my life for so long even years after I Dream of Jeannie.

"Goodbye Larry - there was no one like you before and there will never be anyone like you again."

■ Jeannie's bottle was actually a special Christmas Jim Beam bourbon decanter.

■ Censors made sure Eden's risque genie costume didn't reveal her belly button.

■ Larry Hagman was so volatile on the set that producers hired a shrink to control him.

■ The primitive special effects called for actors to freeze when Jeannie entered, allowing the footage to be edited so she seems to appear in a puff of smoke.

■ When the original set of the interior of Jeannie's bottle was retired, Hagman put it in his backyard at home.

HOW TO SLASH RISK OF PAINKILLERS!

Beware:
painkillers can increase health risks

THE FDA has issued a new warning that some over-the-counter and prescription painkillers increase the danger of a deadly heart attack and stroke – but experts say you can limit your risk.

The drugs include non-steroidal inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs) like ibuprofen (Advil, Motrin) and naproxen (Aleve), which are widely used for pain caused by arthritis or athletic injury. Prescription NSAIDs include Celebrex, Cataflam and Voltaren.

These medicines increase blood pressure, which boosts chances for heart attack and stroke, according to researchers.

And the risks impact HEALTHY people as well as patients with a history of heart disease. NSAIDS also reduce the effect of blood pressure drugs.

Here are some safety tips

if you have to take these medicines:

- Take the lowest effective dose for the least amount of time.
- Never take more than one type of NSAID at a time.
- Try alternatives to NSAIDs such as acetaminophen (Tylenol). But exceeding the 4,000 mg limit of acetaminophen or drinking more than three alcoholic beverages a day can cause liver damage.
- Seek medical help if you experience shortness of breath, chest pain or sudden weakness, or difficulty speaking while taking an NSAID.

Florida cardiologist Dr. Mike Fenster warns that “continuous use of NSAIDS is not a panacea to deal with pain and inflammation caused by headaches or arthritis.

“They not only cause cardiovascular events but can damage kidneys.”

High fiber diet works miracles

+ IF you don't feel like dieting, just eat more fiber! In a clinical trial at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, people who consumed at least 30 grams of fiber a day – from fruits, vegetables and whole grains – not only lost weight but also lowered their blood pressure and blood sugar levels. Says study author Dr. Yunsheng Ma, “A simple-to-follow diet with just one message – increase your fiber intake – may be the way to go.”

Meditation slows aging

+ IF you want to preserve your gray matter and stay young, try meditating regularly. UCLA scientists found people who practiced the mental discipline lost less brain volume as they aged than people who didn't meditate. Although the scientists note other lifestyle factors common to meditators may have influenced the results. Researcher Dr. Florian Kurth says, “This effect is really widespread through the brain. This study says it's basically worthwhile to think about meditation.”

GUARD AGAINST DEADLY BUG BITES

People should use spray with DEET to repel insects says expert

SPENDING time outdoors is what summer is all about - but beware of insect bites that spread disease!

"There are two ways insects can hurt us," says Dr. Andy Nish, a top allergist from Gainesville, Ga. "The biting insects - mosquitoes and ticks - can spread diseases including Lyme disease and Rocky Mountain spotted fever, while the stinging ones - bees, wasps and hornets - carry protein that can cause an allergic reaction."

Anyone who develops headache, fever, chills, swelling, shortness of breath and aches after being bitten should seek medical attention.

Here are steps you can take to protect yourself:

- Wear long sleeves and pants. Avoid brightly colored clothes and perfume or cologne. Examine clothes for ticks before entering the house.
- Apply a bug spray that contains DEET.
- Spray your yard to control ticks and mosquitoes. Fence it in to keep out insect-carrying deer and rodents.
- Protect pets with vet-approved medicine to prevent them from bringing insects into the home.
- Check your environment. Be careful around stagnant water, gutters and leaves.

THE DOCTOR who fed Elvis Presley massive doses of dangerous drugs has broken his silence!

In a bombshell world exclusive interview with GLOBE, doctor to the stars, George "Dr. Nick" Nichopoulos, is blasting critics who blame him for The King's death.

Branded The Man Who Killed Elvis, Dr. Nick admits he's still tormented by the tragedy 38 years later.

"I just can't get it out of my mind," Nichopoulos says of seeing his famous friend and patient unresponsive on Graceland's bathroom floor on Aug. 16, 1977.

Bloated by drug use and overeating, Elvis died at age 42, despite Dr. Nick's desperate efforts to resuscitate him.

A bloated Elvis with galpal Linda Thompson in 1976

Now wheelchair-bound, the 87-year-old former physician – his license was revoked in 1995 – still lives in Memphis, Tenn.

"I miss Elvis, and I think about him almost daily," he says.

Despite reportedly writing 1,000 prescriptions for more than 10,000 doses of drugs – including amphetamines, barbiturates, narcotics, tranquilizers, sleeping pills and laxatives – to Elvis in the months before his death, Dr. Nick bristles at accusations that he hastened the star's demise.

"It hurts me," he says in a halting voice at the home he shares with Edna, his wife of 64 years. "It's not fair. I was the person trying to keep Elvis alive."

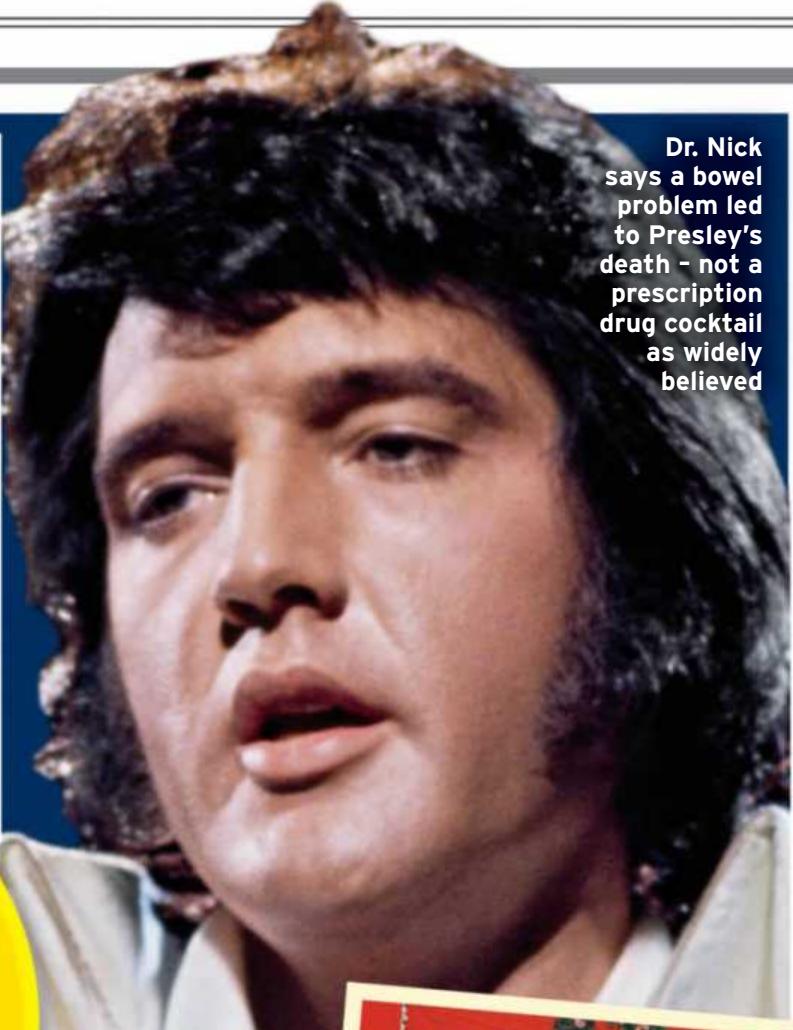

In 1980, Dr. Nick was indicted on 14 counts of overprescribing drugs to Elvis, Jerry Lee Lewis and 12 other patients. But he was acquitted when the jury concluded he'd tried to act in the best interests of his patients.

Since then, he's struggled with health problems and bankruptcy. At one point, he was forced to sell prized mementoes given to him by Elvis, including the unique Taking Care of Business necklaces that were only lavished upon members of the Memphis Mafia, the singer's fabled inner circle.

Although Nichopoulos released a book in 2010, The King and Dr. Nick, it sold poorly and did little to help his money problems.

Meanwhile, Dr. Nick adamantly defends his controversial treatment of Elvis.

"A lot of people have written things that aren't true," he contends. "Elvis wasn't murdered and it wasn't the number of prescription drugs he was taking."

He said Elvis' colon was swollen to nearly twice the size of a normal one. It was six inches in diameter, as compared to a normal two-inch width, and about nine feet long, compared to six.

"He suffered from bad constipation and blockage of the bowel," explains Dr. Nick. "Doctors didn't diagnose that."

Huge weight gain

He reveals Elvis suffered in silence, despite having diarrhea accidents during concerts and suffering from constipation that contributed to his huge weight gain.

But he claims Presley was too embarrassed at the idea of having an operation to fix his chronic problem.

"He was very macho," says Nichopoulos. "He thought he could handle almost anything."

Presley wasn't the only troubled star Dr. Nick was called upon to help. He says he was with rocker Jerry Lee Lewis "for a lot longer than I was with Elvis."

He also treated Michael Jackson for "a bit of a cold and laryngitis. He needed a quick fix, and I treated him with a cortisone spray."

But he says his fondest memories are traveling as a VIP member of The King's entourage.

"I think of the fun times we had together," he says. "I miss those days."

FTER a string of disastrous romances, American Idol champ Fantasia Barrino has found lasting love and tied the knot with "best friend" Kendall Taylor – whose violent past includes a conviction for woman beating.

The wedding of the singer, 31, and Taylor, 34, aboard a luxury yacht on July 19, left Fantasia gushing with joy.

"No more Hurt because King Kendall will never let that happen," she wrote in an Internet post. "Be Happy with me you guys cause I've been thru SOOOOO much."

The picture-perfect wedding is a surprise ending for the Broadway star, whose career soared after winning "Idol" in 2004.

Fantasia was a 17-year-old unwed mother when she gave birth to daughter Zion in 2001. She split from Zion's father in 2002 after less than two years together.

In 2009, she fell for married Antwaun Cook, a father of two, who dumped his wife Paula

But troubled singer says she's found TRUE LOVE

Her romance with Antwaun Cook ended in heartbreak and moved into Fantasia's $1.3 million mansion. Things got really nasty with his wife.

The stormy relationship led to Fantasia's drug overdose suicide attempt, an abortion and finally the birth of Cook's son Dallas in 2011. But in 2013, he dumped her and returned to his family in Charlotte, N.C.

Her hubby, Taylor, who now mentors guys in trouble with the law, was busted with a weapon when he was 16. Put on probation, he was convicted four years later for beating a woman. He's since been convicted on a weapons rap, nailed for drug possession and served time. Now, the father of a 20-year-old son says he found religion in prison and has turned his life around.

And thrilled bride Fantasia adds "all I ever really wanted was this – real love."

DRACULA LIED ABOUT WORLD WAR II HEROICS!

DRACULA legend Christopher Lee liked to tantalize people with talk about his "heroic" World War II record – but he was full of BULL, says a noted historian.

The late Lord of the Rings star claimed he'd served in some of Britain's most elite fighting units, including the Long Range Desert Group, the Special Air Services (SAS) and the Special Operations Executive (SOE).

When pressed for details, he'd say that because he was attached to the SAS, he was forbidden to discuss specific operations, adding suggestively, "Let's just say I was in special forces."

Baloney, says SAS authority Gavin Mortimer, who states, "He was attached to the SAS and SOE as an RAF liaison officer at various times between 1943 and 1945, but he did not serve in them." Big difference!

YOUR HOROSCOPE

by
Emily Hamer-West

For the week of August 10 - August 16

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Before you open your mouth, Ram, stop and think! Now is a time to agree to disagree - politely - especially with co-workers and neighbors. The Cancer moon midweek puts your focus on household matters, steering you to the solution for a long-standing problem. Play it safe when exercising to avoid injury.

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Oh no, there's something you want and the budget is stretched to the max! But Jupiter in Virgo says cash will arrive in the nick of time! Midweek finds you tempted to take out crankiness on loved ones. Resist! Weekend plans may be put on hold, but the reason will make you smile!

LEO July 23 - August 23

Even though it pains you, Leo, ask for the help you need! Someone older and wiser has the answers! Give a loved one a second chance when Saturn and Pluto clash Thursday. It's easy to miscommunicate now, verbally and in writing. The number 7 is starred.

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Your darkest secret could slip out - but guess what, Libra, it wasn't so hush-hush because everyone in your circle already knew! Forget dieting while Venus is retrograde, and put off that new hairstyle, too! The weekend brings a family party and, for some, a windfall!

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

Take extra time to review all things financial. Due diligence can turn a mystery into a profit that benefits you! The travel bug bites, and with Mercury in Leo you can score big bargains on five-star hotels. Saturday brings a meeting with a kindred spirit. Could this be your soul mate?

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Jupiter moving into Virgo is a sign the time has come to take charge of your life! If you've been on the fence about a career or house move, make a decision now! Dress up and be a social butterfly during Friday's new moon - someone special will not be able to resist you. Wear purple for luck.

CELEBRITY BIRTHDAY

turns 55 on August 10

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

Make "Get Organized" the mantra for the week as the planets boost your ability to dump junk and streamline routines. Do you really need all those old shoes, Bull? And will you ever read that stack of magazines? The weekend brings an invite from new pals. Say yes - love and luck will follow!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

It seems nothing can stop you this week - you're an energizer Crab! Taking bold action seems wise, but make sure you back it up with facts - pesky Pluto and Saturn are at odds. Single and seeking? Someone wearing bright colors can fulfill your romantic dreams.

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

It's all systems go this week - are you ready for all the cosmos has in store for you? Pets and children have you opening your wallet midweek. Look for a chance to expand your horizons under the Leo new moon, when meeting someone new could lead to companionship.

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

Vacationing is on your mind, but you've got big work commitments! Mercury steers you to bargains at back-to-school sales, and you don't even have to be a student, so go shopping! This weekend give back to someone who's helped you in the past.

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

It's not like you to be unsure of yourself, Goat, but with Saturn retrograde, steer clear of decision-making until you're certain - a choice could be hard to change later. A new interest is super-fun, and lets you show off a hidden talent. Banish fatigue with high-protein drinks and some rest!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

This could be the time to vault to the top in your career or community. Put on a smile and let the world see what you've got! Hold off on all but the most vital purchases. Sunday's Virgo moon brings a chance to invest in something meaningful, and you'll need the cash!

JUDGE JUDY WRECKED MY LIFE!

Gay plaintiff accuses her staffers of making things up and BARING
HIDDEN HOMOSEXUALITY

DAVID KOHALISKY was just looking for $500 worth of justice when he stepped into Judge Judy's TV courtroom – but he left outraged after he says he was depicted as a liar and outed as gay.

"Judge Judy destroyed me on national TV and ruined my life!" fumes Kohalisky.

The Clearwater, Fla., resident, 53, appeared on the daytime hit's June 17 episode to sue his neighbor for vandalism. The neighbor, he says, cut down a flag pole – which was flying an American flag upside down as a sign of distress – and it damaged his car when it fell.

Insult to injury

Kohalisky says he told TV producers he didn't "want to be outed because some of the people I work with are really homophobic...and they went ahead and did so anyway."

Adding insult to injury, Kohalisky claims producers made him seem greedy when he appeared in front of Judge Judy Sheindlin, 72. Although he only sought $500 to cover his insurance deductible for the damaged car, the producers "tried to get me to look

did me wrong

money-hungry and to increase the amount I was suing for," Kohalisky says.

Show execs also made him appear to lie, he says. "I told them my witness was not my neighbor, but they wanted me to say that she was," he claims in an interview with celebrity Web site Radaronline.com. "Even though it wasn't true, during filming they introduced her as my neighbor."

Adding to the nightmare, Kohalisky says the TV show refused to edit out "a statement from the defendant where he claimed that I was evicted from my place," which he insists is a total lie.

"I run a million-dollar facility, and when my boss saw the show, not only did he see that I was gay but he also asked me what being evicted was all about," Kohalisky recalls. "I had to explain that I was not evicted. It was a lie. I owned my house and I sold it."

To top it all off, Kohalisky lost the case. Kohalisky says he was seeking a bit of restitution when he decided to appear on the show, but he's "upset because nobody would listen" to him and Judge Judy's staff "opened a very big door" for bullying.

DROWNING TRAGEDY DESTROYING DEMI!

TROUBLED Demi Moore is paying a terrible toll for the shocking death of a 21-year-old man who drowned in the pool at her Los Angeles home.

Seeming stressed-out and frayed at the edges, Moore emerged after the tragedy (right) looking visibly "tired" as she hid behind dark rimmed glasses and a hat in New York City, a source says.

Clearly, the Ghost beauty was shaken by Edenilson Steven Valle's July 19 drowning during a party thrown by the caretaker of Moore's home. At the time, the G.I. Jane star was in Paris, France, and her three daughters were not at home.

The day after the disaster, the actress met two of her girls by ex-hubby Bruce Willis, Tallulah, 21, and Scout, 24, in the Big Apple.

"I am in absolute shock," said Moore, 52. "My heart goes out to this young man's family and friends." Valle apparently fell into the water at Moore's multi-million-dollar mansion and was found at the bottom of the pool by another partygoer, according to L.A. County Assistant Chief Coroner Ed Winter.

"According to the witnesses, he had a couple of beers. He was not a big drinker and he said he didn't know how to swim very well," says Winter.

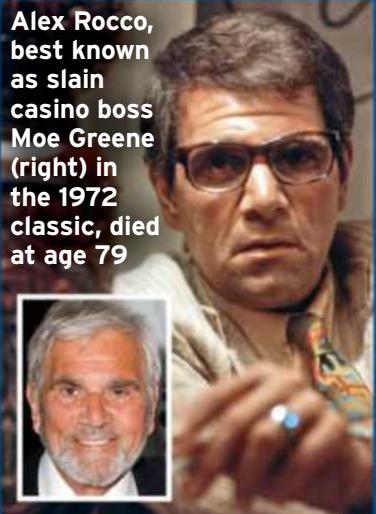

Says a source, "Demi and her entire family are just really shaken up by this."

"It is really such a horrible and sad situation."

MOB SECRET GODFATHER STAR TOOK TO THE GRAVE

MOVIE mobster Alex Rocco was a natural at playing gangsters - he ran with hoods as a young man and was once caught up in a Mob hit!

That's the secret the actor took to his grave when he died from pancreatic cancer on July 18 at age 79.

Best known for playing murdered Las Vegas casino boss Moe Greene in 1972's The Godfather, Rocco - born Alessandro Federico Petricone Jr. - was with a mobster who executed a rival on a Boston street in 1961.

Rocco was arrested and locked up at the Billerica House of Correction, which "basically turned my life around," he said.

Released without being charged, he moved to L.A., became an actor, "and never got so much as a ticket after that."

DONNY OSMOND WILL NEVER SING AGAIN!

- PALS FEAR

SINGER Donny Osmond could be silenced forever, friends fear. After more than five decades performing, the former teen idol, who starred on TV with sister Marie, faces tricky surgery to remove a hemorrhagic polyp on his right vocal cord.

"Donny's had problems in the past and it's always been his worst nightmare that he'd need surgery and could lose his voice forever," says a close source.

The procedure is being performed by Harvard Medical School's Dr. Steven M. Zeitel, who's carried out the same operation on singers Lionel Richie, Adele and John Mayer.

Bleeding lesion

The polyp, also known as a bleeding lesion, is usually caused by a vocal accident or vocal overuse, Dr. James Thomas, a voice specialist and ear, nose and throat expert from Portland, Ore., tells GLOBE.

"Using a laryngoscope, the surgeon looks down the throat at the vocal cords. With micro instruments, and most likely a laser, the broken blood vessels are cauterized and the lesion removed."

Osmond, 57, has been in the showbiz spotlight since appearing on The Andy Williams Show in 1963 when he performed with his brothers. He and his sister had a hit ABC variety series, Donny & Marie, that ended in 1979 after a three-year run.

Now, the near constant wear and tear on his voice may have finally taken its toll.

"Doctors have been telling Donny for the last few years that he's got to take time to rest his voice or he could run the risk of losing his ability to sing all together," says the source. "Now he wishes he'd paid more attention."

In 2005, the father of five and grandfather of seven who's been married to Debbie since 1978, spoke about never

Marie fears her Vegas career is over without Donny

SINGING SIBLINGS

Former teen idol FACING SURGERY on vocal cords

Donny Osmond is terrified of going under the knife, citing Julie Andrews' (below) disastrous surgery letting doctors perform surgery on him.

He pointed to The Sound of Music star Julie Andrews, whose singing voice was stolen in a medical disaster after undergoing a similar procedure.

"Don't ever let them take a knife," he said.

Now, not only is his future uncertain, but so is 55-year-old Marie's. They've shared the stage in the Donny & Marie Las Vegas live show since 2008.

"Marie's very worried, too," says the insider. "There's no way Marie could carry the Vegas show on her own. The crowds want Donny and Marie."

DOCTOR'S MEMORY BREAKTHROUGH

New Discovery for People with Failing Memory

World's Leading Brain Expert and Winner of the Prestigious Kennedy Award, Unveils Exciting News For the Scattered, Unfocused and Forgetful

By Steven Wuzubia
Health Correspondent;

Clearwater, Florida: Dr. Meir Shinitzky, Ph.D., is a former visiting professor at Duke University, recipient of the prestigious J.F. Kennedy Prize and author of more than 200 international scientific papers on human body cells. But now he's come up with what the medical world considers his greatest accomplishment — A vital compound, so powerful, it's reported to repair... even regrow damaged brain cells. In layman's terms — Bring back your memory power. And leave you feeling more focused and clear-headed than you have in years!

Dr. Shinitzky explains this phenomenon in simple terms; "Science has shown when your brain nutrient levels drop, you can start to experience memory problems and overall mental fatigue. Your ability to concentrate and stay focused becomes compromised. And gradually, a "mental fog" sets in. It can damage every aspect of your life". Not only do brain cells die but they become dysfunctional as if they begin to fade away as we age. This affects our ability to have mental clarity and focus and impacts our ability to remember things that were easy for us to do in our 20's and 30's.

Scientists think the biggest cause of brain deterioration in older people is the decreased functioning of membranes and molecules that surround the brain cells. These really are the transmitters that connect the tissues or the brain cells to one another that help us with our sharp memory, clear thinking and mental focus, even our powers to reason well. "When we are in our 20's" according to Dr. Shinitzky "our body produces key substances like phosphatidylserine and phosphatidic acid"... unfortunately they are believed to be critical essential nutrients that just fade away with age, much like our memories often do leading to further mental deterioration.

As we get older it becomes more frustrating as there is little comfort when you forget names... misplaced your keys... or just feel "a little confused". And even though your foggy memory gets laughed off as just another "senior moment," it's not very funny when it keeps happening to you.

The Missing Link is Found and Tested

It's hard to pronounce that's for sure, but it certainly appears from the astounding clinical research that this one vital nutrient phosphatidylserine (PS) can really make a huge difference in our mental wellness. 17 different double blind studies with placebo controlled groups have been involved in the clinical research of PS with patients between the ages of 55-80 years of age. Periodically the researchers gave these patients memory and cognitive tests and the results were simply amazing:

- 1) PS patients outperformed placebo patients in All 5 Tests - 100% Success Rate
- 2) After only 45 days there was a measurable improvement in mental function
- 3) After 90 days, there was an impressive and amazing improvement in mental function

The group taking phosphatidylserine, not only enjoyed sharper memory, but listen to this... they were also more upbeat and remarkably more happy. In contrast, the moods of the individuals who took the placebo (starch pill), remained unaffected....no mental or mood improvement at all.

My Memory Started to Scare Me.

I would forget all kinds of things and something that I just said earlier in the day would have completely slipped my mind. I almost forgot my granddaughter's birthday and that would have been horrible. I had forgotten lots of other little things along the way. I was worried about it.

Over the last several months I've noticed my memory seemed to be getting pretty unreliable and so I thought I'd better do something about it now. So when I read about this amazing PS nutrient and how much it would help me with my memory I wanted to try it.

It's great! I have actual recall now, which is super. After about 6 weeks of taking it on a daily basis is when I began to notice that I wasn't forgetting things anymore.

Thanks to PS for giving me my memory back. It's given me a lot more self-confidence and self-esteem. I would not trust my memory without it.

Vital Nutrient Reverses "Scatter Brain"

This incredible PS nutrient feeds your brain the vital nutrient it needs to stay healthy... PS now has the attention of some of the world's most prominent brain experts. It has been written up and published in leading science and medical journals and its findings have electrified the International scientific community.

Earth-Shaking Science

Published, clinical reports show replenishing your body's natural supply of Phosphatidylserine, not only helps sharpen your memory and concentration — but also helps "perk you up" and put you in a better mood. PS as it turns out also helps to reduce everyday stress and elevate your mood by lowering your body's production of the hormone cortisol. When cortisol levels are too high for too long you experience fatigue, bad moods and weakness. This drug-free brain-boosting formula enters your bloodstream fast (in as little as thirty minutes).

Officially Reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration: Lipogen PS Plus is the ONLY Health Supplement that has a "Qualified Health Claim for both Cognitive Dysfunction and Dementia".

Special Opportunity For Our Readers

We've made arrangements with the distributor of this proprietary blend of PS, which combines with several other proven special brain boosting natural ingredients to give you the mental clarity and memory gain that you need, to give you a Risk-Free trial supply. This is a special "Readers Only Discount". This trial is 100% risk-free.

It's a terrific deal. If Lipogen PS Plus doesn't help you think better, remember more... and improve your mind, clarity and mood — you won't pay a penny! (Except S&H).

But you must act fast. Your order can only be guaranteed if it comes in within the next 7-days. After that, supplies could run out. And your order may not be fulfilled until they are replenished.

So don't wait. Now you can join the thousands of people who think better, remember more — and enjoy clear, "fog-free" memory. Call today, toll-free at 1-800-685-8767. Think of it as making a "wake-up call" to your brain.

CLOSE KICKED OUT OF NASHVILLE

NASHVILLE's Eric Close has been axed from the fourth season of country music drama on ABC.

The 48-year-old actor, who played singer Rayna Jaymes' (Connie Britton) sleazy ex-husband and city mayor Teddy Conrad, was seen being led away in handcuffs in last season's cliffhanger.

Conrad was accused of frequenting a high-class call girl and embezzling government funds to pay her off. But sources say that as the father of Rayna's two children, Conrad is likely to pop up again later this season, if only briefly.

Insiders say Close was shown the door so the series can focus on the music business instead of the political intrigue surrounding him.

Nashville is desperately trying to emulate the success of FOX's Empire, which has centered its blockbuster rookie season on the battle for control of a hip-hop empire, the sources say.

...AND CASTLE AXES PENNY!

In a shake-up at another ABC show, Penny Johnson Jerald admits she's devastated at being cut from Castle after four seasons.

Jerald, who joined as Captain Victoria Gates in the fourth season, was let go as the crime series changes things up to prevent year eight from becoming the final season.

In a message posted to fans, Jerald wrote, "I am surprised and saddened to learn that I will no longer be a part of the Castle family. Thank you all for your support and love. Hugs from PJJ."

Penny Johnson Jerald didn't see her departure coming from her role on Castle

HIGH SCHOOL REUNION - IN CRIMINAL COURT!

TWO promising classmates took different paths through life and wound up meeting in court - with one the judge and the other a career criminal.

The unexpected encounter sparked a flood of emotions after bond hearing Judge Mindy Glazer surprised burglary suspect Arthur Booth by asking if he'd attended Nautilus Middle School in Miami.

Gifted student

Booth, 49, erupted in tears when he recognized his childhood friend, who was also his classmate at Miami Beach Senior High. He buried his face in his hands and uttered "oh my goodness" over and over as Judge Glazer offered condolences and praise.

"I'm so sorry to see you here," she said. "This was the nicest kid in middle school. He was the best kid. I used to play football with him...and look what happened. I'm so sorry."

Booth was a gifted student hand-picked to attend the area's top schools. He set his sights on becoming a neurosurgeon.

"He was such a lovely boy,

Nerdy gal became judge but addiction turned pal into TRAGIC CAREER CROOK so tenacious and always wanting to learn," recalls his aunt, Betty Knight.

But Booth got addicted to gambling in high school and dropped out. At age 18, he was arrested for grand theft, then

Judge Mindy Glazer was stunned to recognize her childhood friend, burglary suspect Arthur Booth, in court. They were classmates at Miami's Nautilus Middle School (below) and at Miami Beach Senior High became hooked on crack cocaine and amassed a lengthy rap sheet.

"He didn't have a job, so the only way to get money was to steal," says his cousin, Melissa Miller. "He would break into warehouses or empty homes. He was never violent to anyone."

Booth kicked his drug habit by age 32, but as a felon he had trouble finding work and remained a gambling addict. The combination kept him bouncing in and out of jail, with his latest release coming in late 2014.

Meanwhile, childhood pal Glazer put aside her early dreams of a veterinary career and chose law, specializing in estate planning. In 2000, she became a judge.

And after her touching reunion with Booth, she set bail at $43,000. "I hope you are able to change your ways," she told him. "Good luck to you, sir."

FEDS ACCUSED OF COVER-UP IN HULK SEX TAPE SCANDAL!

THE FBI altered secret evidence in Hulk Hogan's sensational sex tape case, charge lawyers fighting the wrestling legend's $100 million lawsuit against a Web site that posted the video.

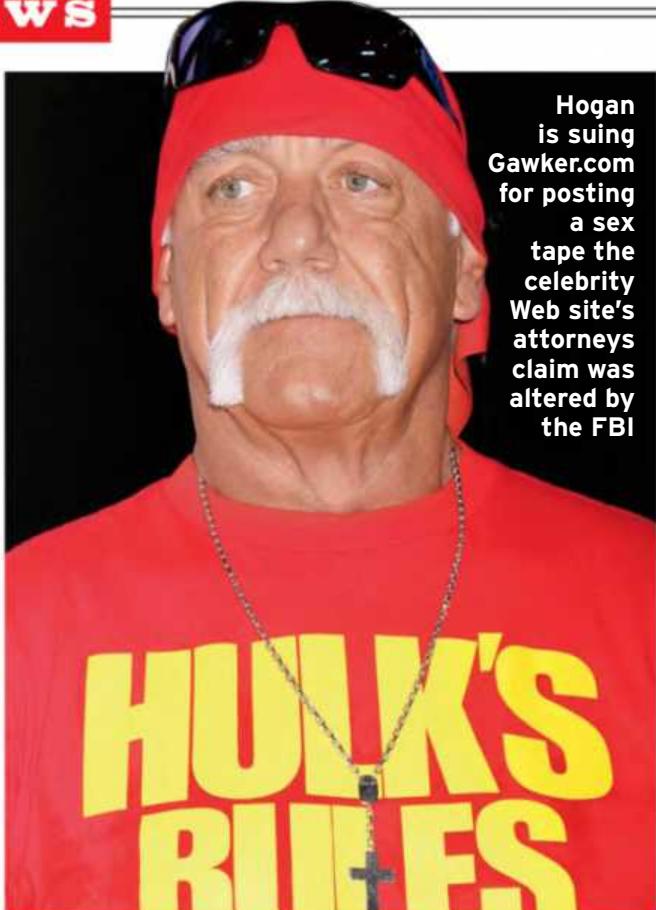

According to attorneys representing Gawker.com, the Feds not only withheld over 1,100 documents, audio tapes and videos but also altered the soundtrack of one of the X-rated videos.

The Feds gathered the evidence during an extortion investigation concerning a California man who tried to sell the sex tape, which features Hogan, 61, frolicking with Heather Clem, the wife of his former

Hogan is suing Gawker.com for posting a sex tape the celebrity Web site's attorneys claim was altered by the FBI pal Bubba Clem.

Gawker sued the FBI to release the evidence, and the Web site's attorney, Seth Berlin, claims the audio in one of the tapes mysteriously changes "at a key moment."

"I want to understand how...that audio got changed," says Berlin. "It smells like a bad fish."

Berlin further suggests that the FBI conducted its "extortion" probe at Hogan's request.

Hogan – whose real name is Terry Bollea – filed his lawsuit after Gawker posted a two-minute clip of the video. The grappler claims he was unaware he was being filmed in bed, and broadcasting his X-rated antics on the Internet invaded his privacy.

Gawker CEO Nick Denton categorizes the FBI's action in the Hogan probe as a "cover-up," and adds that "the deeper you go, the more interesting it gets."

COWELL WANTS TO CLONE HIS PUPS

IS Simon Cowell doggone crazy, or what? The music mogul is said to be looking into cloning his beloved Yorkshire terriers Squiddly and Diddly so they can, in effect, live forever.

Sources say Cowell, 55, is checking out South Korea's Sooam Biotech, which has already cloned a dach-hund named Winnie.

"Simon has briefed aides, and they are looking to see whether Sooam is a viable option," reveals a source. "He's determined to make it happen. Money is not an issue," even though the company charges $100,000 to replicate ONE dog!

It all makes sense when you consider that Simon, dad of Eric, 1, with partner Lauren Silverman, has also been making plans for his own immortality by being cryogenically frozen when he dies. "The only problem," says Cowell, "is when you're frozen, they cut your head off."

FLASHBACK

JAYNE'S NOT SO PLAIN!

HERE'S no question breathtaking JAYNE MANSFIELD was picture perfect when she posed as a news photographer in this saucy 1956 pinup. One of Hollywood's original blonde bombshells, Jayne made a splash a year later in the flick Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter? Tragically, her life was ended by a freak car crash in 1967 when she was only 34. Jayne was survived by a daughter, who grew up to be Law & Order: SVU star Mariska Hargitay African Gem Cutter Makes $2,689,000 Mistake...Will You?

This story breaks my heart every time. Allegedly, just two years after the discovery of tanzanite in 1967, a Maasai tribesman knocked on the door of a gem cutter's office in Nairobi. The Maasai had brought along an enormous chunk of tanzanite and he was looking to sell. His asking price? Fifty dollars. But the gem cutter was suspicious and assumed that a stone so large could only be glass. The cutter told the tribesman, no thanks, and sent him on his way. Huge mistake. It turns out that the gem was genuine and would have easily dwarfed the world's largest cut tanzanite at the time. Based on common pricing, that "chunk" could have been worth close to $3,000,000!

The tanzanite gem cutter missed his chance to hit the jeweler's jackpot...and make history. Would you have made the same mistake then? Will you make it today?

In the decades since its discovery, tanzanite has become one of the world's most coveted gemstones. Found in only one remote place on Earth (in Tanzania's Merelani Hills, in the shadow of Mount Kilimanjaro), the precious purple stone is 1,000 times rarer than diamonds. Luxury retailers have been quick to sound the alarm, warning that supplies of tanzanite will not last forever. And in this case, they're right. Once the last purple gem is pulled from the Earth, that's it. No more tanzanite. Most believe that we only have a few years of supply left, which is why it's so amazing for us to offer this incredible price break. Some retailers along Fifth Avenue are more than happy to charge you outrageous prices for this rarity. Not Stauer. Staying true to our contrarian nature, we've decided to lower the price of one of the world's rarest and most popular gemstones.
